Kristofer Garlitch is studying for the priesthood at Saint Meinrad. He is slated for diaconate ordination -- the last step before being ordained to Holy Orders of the Priesthood -- in October of 2025! He is currently completing his Clinical Pastoral Education Program as part of his studies for the priesthood. One of his favorite saints is St. Padre Pio & he loves the rosary as one of his favorite devotions. Read what Kris has to say below!

"At the hospital we have the opportunity to be with people at moments of joy, but also moments of sadness, anger, and confusion. The wide span of emotions encompass the many situations a priest may find himself ministering to others.

I've also seen how many people are open to prayer when they face challenges and health concerns even when they are not particularly religious. This has shown me the importance of suffering in the sense that we can come to know God and His power and will through our own suffering.

Hence Psalm 119:71, "It was good for me to be afflicted, to learn your will." --Seminarian Kristofer Garlitch's reflection of his Clinical Pastoral Education program at Ascension-St. Vincent Hospital this summer.
